Gapter 1

A Beautiful Start to Life

My name is Helen Keller.

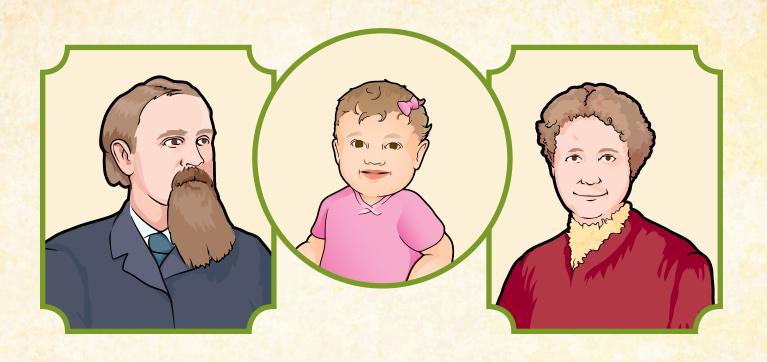

I was born in 1880 in Alabama.

We lived in a small house near my grandparents.

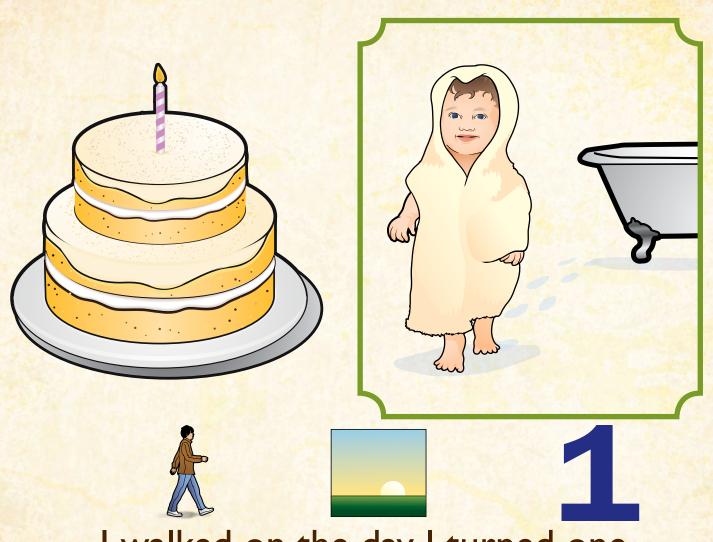

The house was covered in flowers.

I walked on the day I turned one.

I had one summer rich in fruit and roses.

I had one autumn to see the gold and crimson.

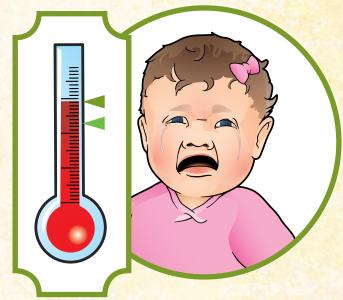

But I got very sick with fever in February.

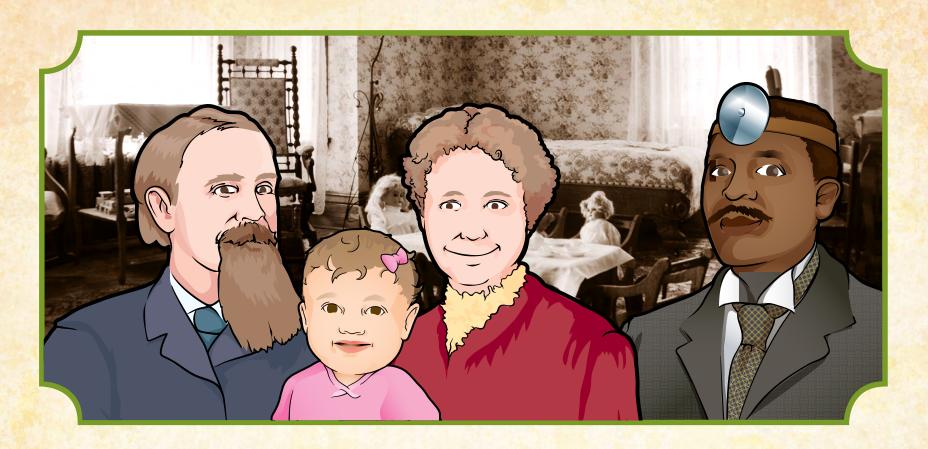

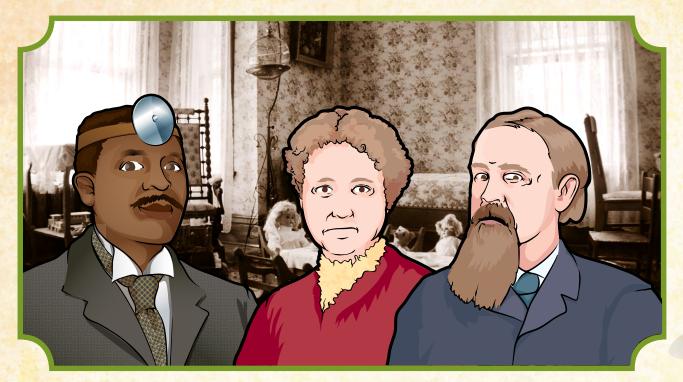

The doctor thought I might die.

My fever stopped, and I felt better.

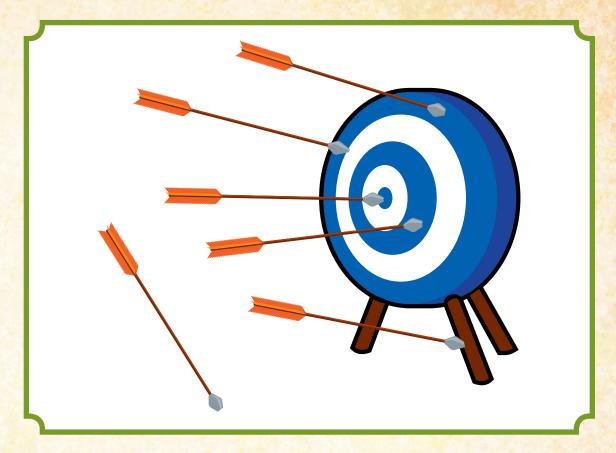

No one knew that I would never see or hear again.

Learning takes time, just keep trying.
